

The generic bubble diagram indicates the adjacencies between the different rooms forming a TCT Unit.

It highlights the importance of grouping rooms by use: social, sleeping and utility.

A successful unit will separate noisy activities from quiet areas.

Any references to numbers are indicative only.