Join our team of cancer information reviewers to help Teenage Cancer Trust make sure the information resources we create for young people with cancer and their families are fit for purpose. Help us make information that answers the big questions, so that young people don’t face cancer alone.

To apply for this role, you’ll need to be between 13 and 24 years old. We’re looking for volunteers who don’t have a cancer diagnosis (past or present), so we can make sure our information makes sense to those who aren’t familiar with cancer terminology.

We want to make sure we are effectively serving the diverse young people we support by hearing from a diverse range of experience and voices. We would especially welcome young people who are disabled, LGBTQ+, BAME/People of Colour and/or those who have a religious belief to get in touch. If you have a disability and would like us to make any reasonable adjustments to enable you to take part, please let us know.

When? Any time that suits you, so long as you can respond within our deadlines. Ideally, you’ll be able to volunteer for six months or more. We won’t send you more than one resource per month to review, so this isn’t a time-intensive role.

Where? Completely online, so from the comfort of your home or any other location of your choosing, so long as you have a device and an internet connection.

What will I do?
- Get attachments or links to our resources by email, and occasionally by post
- Review the resources from your own home and at a time that is best for you
- Tell us whether the information answers questions you’d have on the topic, whether you understand it, whether it’s right for the age group and whether the design helps engage with it
- Fill in our feedback surveys to let us know what you think, and to suggest any improvements.

How will Teenage Cancer Trust support me?
- Training before you start (delivered remotely)
- Resources to help you in the role, like FAQs for reviewers
- Regular support and feedback from your volunteer manager

What skills or attributes do I need?
- Your own device (a smartphone, tablet or laptop/PC) and an internet connection
- The ability to read and understand written English, but that doesn’t necessarily mean you have to be a really confident reader. If you find reading hard, we want to hear from you too
- The ability to give written feedback (but if you have an accessibility need that means you’d prefer to give feedback in another way, we can find a way that works for you)
- The ability to come up with and communicate your own opinions (there are no wrong answers in this role!)
- Reliability and ability to work to agreed deadlines.

To apply, existing volunteers should simply fill in our short application form; OR if you’re new to Teenage Cancer Trust, you’ll need to complete this slightly more comprehensive application form so we can add you to our system.
